New Shipping Rules

Clovis, Dec. 2, 1914.

Clovis News,
Clovis, N. M.

Gentlemen:

As you are aware, regulations covering war tax revenue became effective Dec. 1st, and thinking that possibly its application to freight, baggage and express shipments would be of interest to your readers, beg to submit a brief outline as to its affect at this time.

FREIGHT SHIPMENTS:

All receipts, bills of lading etc. covering shipments by freight on revenue received by railway company exceeding five cents must have a one cent internal revenue stamp attached to the original bill of lading, stamp to be cancelled by shipper by writing name or initial of corporation or individual making the shipment.

EXPRESS

The same regulations apply to shipments handled by express, but book form of receipt is still allowed and the stamp may be attached over each individual receipt in this book.

BAGGAGE

Baby carriages, cribs, go-carts, children's sleighs, bicycles, theatrical paraphernalia, dogs and various other articles not considered regular baggage, but which are transported in baggage cars are subject to this tax. Stamp in this case to be attached to receipt or check. Baggage of excess weight, excess size, excess value or storage is not subject to the tax.

Yours truly,
L. R. CONARTY, Agent.

Homer and Chas Justus were in from their ranch near St Vrain Wednesday shipping 470 lambs to the Kansas City market. The sheep were inspected by Sid Boykin and shipped in two cars.

Mrs. J. A. Montgomery, of Memphis, Texas, is visiting her father, W. C. Erwin, on his ranch near Grady.

Fred Meyers, a Santa Fe employee, has purchased a house and will move his family here to reside.

J. M. Files and son, C. M. left Wednesday for Amarillo, where they will join the rest of the family and will remain there a few months prior to going east.

Flood Davis and P. J. Craft, who reside southwest of Clovis, were in after supplies, Wednesday.

Dr. J. R. Haney, Emmet R. Rice, Dr. Miller and C. V. Steed went to the breaks the first of the week quail hunting. They report the birds plentiful but wild and difficult to shoot.

J. C. Halliday, one of our leading farmers and stockgrowers, was in the city Wednesday.

Dr. J. Foster Scott Jr. returned from Fort Sumner Monday after an absence of several days.

Mr. Bench, of Missouri, is one of the visitors looking about for a location.
